LARGE AUDIENCE GREET SOCIAL CREDIT SPEAKERS

Alberta Prosperity Certificate were thoroughly discussed in a meeting held here Monday evening when Hon. Lucien Maynard, M.L.A., who, out of portfolio in the provincial cabinet, addressed a large gathering of citizens.

Mr. George Bell occupied the chair and introduced the member for this constituency Mr. I. M. McCune of Irricana. Mr. McCune spoke of the some 114 bills brought before the last session of the Provincial House and held out as being of special interest and importance, first the refusal to join the loan council and second the refunding operation of the provincial debt.

Going back to the time when the present government took over the reins, Mr. Maynard outlined the financial position of the province at that time. With an overdraft of some $600,000 bills piling up, no funds for school grants, etc., the government was forced to borrow from Ottawa for the balance of the fiscal year. They were also compelled to raise taxes instead of reducing them for the province at that time. With the wishes and election promises. And still ordinary revenue was not sufficient so they decided on three definite steps to be taken: First the government refused to join the loan council and borrow more money; second they introduced the 2 per cent sales tax much to their own dislike and thirdly they reduced the interest rate of the provincial bonds by 5 per cent. Under these present conditions Mr. Maynard declared that the province was guaranteed its independence.

The second definite break with finance, Mr. Maynard declared, was then taken with the introduction of the Alberta Provincial Certificate issue which will make its appearance early as possible in July. At some length the speaker discussed the inconsistency of newspaper reports and the misapprehensions read in them.

He also declared that before July 1st they would likely publish a list of the whealers in the province who were not willing to co-operate with the government in the handling of the certificates. He definitely urged the public not to patronize the merchant and wholesalers who would not co-operate with the government or who were under orders from the office down east not to accept these certificates.

The next step would be the establishment of a clearing house for the certificates which would be Edmonton. The same would later be followed up by the State Clearing House of the Social Credit system, with branches in all important places.

Another important step being taken in the near future would be the survey of the possible industrial production of the province. For instance the sugar industry if 100 per cent Alberta sugar was used in Alberta would give additional employment to some 40,000 more people than at present as there is at present only 40 per cent of Alberta sugar being used, 60 per cent being brought into the province. Also many other industries could be developed.

The legality of the certificate issue did not cause any concern to Mr. Maynard because unless some suffering was caused through the same he could not see why anyone should contest the legality of it, either in the province or on the part of the federal government.

Mr. Maynard pointed out that there were some points which he could not divulge with regard to the operation of the certificates because of the opposition forces and that the best answer of the method used to reduce these would be in the operation of the scheme.

A period of questioning was very ably dealt with by Mr. McCune and Mr. Maynard.

Mr. Maynard declared that he was not quite as much at ease in Gleichen coming before the citizens of his home town industry and also paid great tribute to his father and the training received from him. Mr. Maynard, Sr., was present in the audience.

BOARD OF TRADE HOLD LAST MEETING OF SUMMER MONTHS

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the Board of Trade was held last week in the Club Room of the Community Hall, with Mr. Jas. Black occupying the chair. There will be no meetings held during the summer except in case of emergency. A. R. Yates, chairman of the tree planting committee gave a short report on planting activities. The Board of Trade sponsored a tree planting campaign in town last month; the tree planted were principally poplar and ash. The planting of the trees was done by members of the Board assisted by volunteer citizens.

GLEICHEN UNITED CHURCH

Rev. J. N. Wilkinson, minister. Mrs. H. Birch, choir leader. Miss Jean Farquharson, pianist. 11 a.m. Church School. 7:30 p.m. Evening Worship. Subject: "The Duty of Faithfulness."

The habit of finding fault is one which most of us are addicted. When looking in the habit we don't like it especially if we are the subjects of criticism, but in spite of this we rarely refrain from doing the same ourselves when the occasion offers. A question which we might all ask ourselves is, "Does faultfinding ever do any good?" If it does let us indulge in it. If not, let us carefully guard against it. It might also be well to consider what Jesus said about it for whether we like it or not experience has proved beyond any doubt that Jesus teaching is in the long run always right.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

At the home of Mrs. James Black a shower was given in honor of Miss Marjorie McIntyre, whose marriage to Mr. Robert Leitch of Calgary, will shortly take place. McArthur sang two solos, accompanied by Mrs. Eglesse. Gleichen Stampede Association for their kindness in donating the sole refreshment concessions to them on Roundup Day, June 23rd.

At the same time we solicit through the medium of your paper, the support of all Stampede visitors, and we trust that they will show their appreciation of the work these organizations are doing by the support rendered that day.

We wish to state at this time that the proceeds of the booths will be used as far as possible to send these girls and boys to their respective summer camps. LOCAL BOY SCOUTS SEE THEMSELVES IN MOVING PICTURES

Mr. Johnson and his assistant Mr. McQueen returned rather unexpectedly to Gleichen one day last week and that evening the scouts were asked to go to the Scout Hall to see the pictures of Scout and Rover activities. The boys turned out in full force, only three being absent. Among other parts of interest to the boys, were the pictures of the 42nd Scout rally in Calgary last year when Baden Powell visited the Alberta Scouts. The boys were very enthusiastic over seeing themselves in several parts of the pictures, and at these times Mr. Johnson showed up the pace of the pictures so that they could get a good look at themselves. The attitude of the boys towards Sylvan Lake seemed to change greatly during the showing of the pictures of the different camps there.

A Moral Renaissance

In a world riven with fear and mistrust, with greed, hatred and suspicion rampant between individuals, between economic, political and social groups and between nations, there must be much inward searching of souls, much communing of hearts in an effort to find the cause of all this strife in the hope that thereby a remedy may be found and once again nations may live in peace and people may pursue the paths of progress with hope and confidence in the future.

That there is much travail, seething and unrest at home and abroad no one can gainsay, and until some key has been found which will unlock the gate to peace and prosperity, there can be no assurance of widespread happiness and contentment.

What is this key, millions of people are asking themselves and asking one another as they view with dismay the ruffled waters of a troubled humanity?

Perhaps the answer is to be found in the statement made in the British House of Lords on March 19, 1934 by the Marquess of Salisbury, son of the famous prime minister of the same name in the late Victorian era, when he said:

"The cause of the world's state is not economic; the cause is moral. . . If I may use a phrase which is common in a great movement which is taking place in this country and elsewhere (The Oxford Group) what you want are God-guided personalities, which make God-guided nationalities, to make a new world. All the other ideas of economic adjustments are too small really to touch the centre of the evil."

If such a statement were made from the pulpit it would probably be regarded by many as more or less of a commonplace, something to be expected from such a source, but when it is made by a peer of the realm in such an institution as the House of Lords of Great Britain, it has more arresting and significant effect and serves to emphasize what might be considered a platitude if uttered by others elsewhere.

The minds of many great leaders are being directed in this channel as is evident from recent utterances of other great men whose words, whether their political or economic creeds are accepted, inspire serious thought and consideration.

A similar idea was expressed about the same time by President Roosevelt of the United States when he said:

"No greater thing could come today to our land than a revival of the spirit of religion—a revival that would sweep through the homes of the nation and stir the hearts of men and women of all faiths to a reassertion of their belief in God and their dedication to His will for themselves and for their world. I doubt if there is any problem—social, political or economic—that would not melt away before the fire of such a spiritual awakening."

Further testimony in support of this sentiment comes from Roger Babson, founder of the Babson Statistical organization, whose prophecies of future trends based on statistical data are regarded as authoritative over the entire continent. Mr. Babson recently said: "I expect a business revival. But only a spiritual awakening among the people can make it enduring."

These and other authorities and leaders in many countries of the world are unanimous in their opinion that before there can be a change in the national and international outlook it is essential that the viewpoint be changed and that, in effect, a moral renaissance is necessary for the national viewpoint can be none other than that of the individuals which constitute it.

It might perhaps be said: What is the use of Canadians adopting an unselfish or a lofty moral viewpoint so long as the peoples of other countries exemplify a diametrically opposed outlook? Such a restricted conception of purpose and duty could only serve to delay the consummation of the peace, concord and prosperity which the great majority desire to see. Reform and improvement must first come from within and spread outward like the ripples on the water from the cast stone.

Whether one agrees or not with the doctrines of the Oxford Group movement, one cannot but recognize that when they draw attention to the fact that there must first be a change in the individual before there can be a changed national viewpoint, they are hitting the bulls-eye.

Mr. and Mrs. Newlwyed were silent as the train bore them homeward after their honeymoon. Mr. Newlwyed was hard up. He had spent every penny on the honeymoon and his next pay-day was a fortnight off.

As they neared home the young wife gave a merry laugh. "I'm going to tell you a secret that will cheer you up, Billy," she said. "Before we went away I hid ten pounds in the larder."

Not Given Much Credit

But Wives Of Early Western Settlers Did Their Part

First white woman to the plains of Western Canada was Marie Galois, who journeyed to the Red River in 1847 and later as far west as Edmonton, said E. A. Corbett, local historian, in an address at Saskatoon.

Talking on "Early Women of Western Canada," the speaker remarked early fur traders were notably reticent in giving credit to the women who accompanied them into new lands.

Mr. Corbett referred to the wife of David Thompson, one of the west's earliest explorers. Mrs. Thompson, he said, was a half-breed girl born at Tie a la Croix in 1785, daughter of Patrick Small, one of the first white traders on the Churchill River.

David Thompson married the girl when she was 14 years of age, and from then on she was his constant companion.

The speaker regretted Alexander Mackenzie had left little record of the part his wife played in his northern explorations.

"It is unfortunate," he continued, "that we know so little of the wives of the Selkirk Settlers, of such white women as the wife of Factor Rowland, who with her husband made old Fort Edmonton famous for its hospitality during the early years of the last century."

Asphalt In Petroleum

New Process May Make It Available For Paving Material

Oil wells which supply the gasoline to move vehicles were pointed out today as a new source of paving material over which to move them.

All petroleum contains asphalt, but much of it has not been utilized for paving because of impurities. By a new vacuum process of extraction, demonstrated at the International Petroleum Exposition, pure asphalt falls like rain out of a cloud of vaporized petroleum. The still in which this is done was invented by Dr. Sidney Boren, director of petroleum research at the University of Tulsa. The stills are towers made of heavy steel, 40 to 60 feet high and five to 22 feet in diameter.

In the interior of the towers are almost perfect vacuums. Into them is run petroleum from which gasoline and kerosene have been extracted. The liquid is heated in the vacuum tower at 6,500 degrees Fahrenheit, a temperature at which it instantly explodes into a cloud of vapor. Out of this vapor the asphalt falls completely pure in a coal black rain.

Collars Replace Riband

Holders of Certain Decorations Must Change When Ordered

Holders of certain orders wore their "collars" when the King held the second levee of his reign at St. James' Palace. That was because the levee coincided with the birthday of Queen Mary, and notices announcing it bore the footnote: "N.B.—May 29 is a collar day."

Collar days—there were 35 last year—are days on which, if decorations are worn, the riband of the Garter, the Thistle, the Bath, St. Michael and St. George, the Royal Victorian Order, and certain other orders is replaced by the collar of the order.

It is laid down in court regulations that collars must not be worn after sunset, except by the King's special command, so that they are rarely seen at public dinners or receptions. The collar—with the badge of the order suspended from it—is worn under the shoulder straps or epaulettes of uniforms, fastened with white satin bows, $\frac{1}{2}$ inches wide, at either side.

New Northern Sea Route

Navigators Of Soviet Have Made Mariners' Dreams Come True

A new sea route has been opened by Soviet navigators after three years' preparatory work. The Russian cargo vessels have succeeded in establishing a route to the Far East along the northern coasts of Europe and Asia. Such a way has been the dream of mariners for centuries, though 10 years ago Nansen declared the idea to be impossible. An icebreaker fleet placed along the route has kept the channels open. More than 100 ships of the Soviet mercantile marine have this winter sailed along this roof of the world without a single mishap. Five radio stations keep vessels informed of weather and ice conditions.

Get Practical Training

High School In Jacksonville, Florida, Has Splendid Plan

In Jacksonville, Florida, high school boys and girls are getting training for future jobs in the community at the same time they attend school. They go to school part of the day and the other part they spend in the department store, advertising office, broadcasting station, theatre, hotel, tearoom, telephone office, leasing office, or in any other place where they can get practical training on the job. Since the inauguration of the "Jacksonville Plan" about two years ago, 86 per cent. of the vocational pupils have secured jobs upon graduation, and the plan is spreading to other cities of the south and west. The majority of the boys and girls leaving high school today cannot go to college, yet their training is directed toward that goal. When they apply for a job, the employer asks: "What can you do?" The answer is: "I don't know, but I can try anything." The Jacksonville graduate says: "I have had two years' experience in a bank," or in an auto-mechanic's shop, or any other of the 43 different types of training positions in the community.—Christian Science Monitor.

Admiral Of Yacht Squadron

King Edward Has Office First Held By Edward VII

The King has become Admiral of the Royal Yacht Squadron, perhaps the most exclusive club in the world. Edward VII was the first holder of the office of admiral, inaugurated at his accession in 1901. The club itself was established in 1812.

A story circulated that the famous royal racing cutter Britannia is to be sunk to under the industry of the ship-breakers yard. However, enquiries showed this report incorrect. The King has given instructions that the sails and rigging of the craft be sold, but the remainder of the equipment is to be stored and no instructions have been given regarding the hull. The Britannia was built in 1893 for Edward VII. when he was Prince of Wales. The famous cutter won 231 first prizes and 129 other awards in 625 races in the course of 43 years of racing.

Dr. Allan Roy Dafee's hopes for the future of the quintuplets will become just as normal young women as girls born singly rest largely now on the women to be entrusted with the education of the famous babies who are now two years old. Admitting he had few fears about the babies' health, Dr. Dafee said he and the other guardians will shape the babies' lives until they are 19.

Need More Scholarships

More Opportunity Required For Bright Students Without Means

Dr. R. C. Wallace, newly-appointed principal of Queen's University, stated at Ottawa that Canada needed more scholarships for her students. Dr. Wallace, president of the University of Alberta, succeeds Dr. W. Hamilton Fyffe, who accepted principalship of Aberdeen University.

It should be possible for a student, irrespective of means, if he has the mental ability, to go right through school and college, said Dr. Wallace.

Regarding positions for university graduates, Dr. Wallace said: "People to-day are realizing more and more the importance of trying to help the trained person and many businessmen are recognizing this and doing all that lies in their power to prevent the trained person from going to waste."

"Sports have a real value in their own place," he said. "We must remember that students do not go to the university for sports. That is not why universities were founded."

Was Noted Explorer

Harry Whitney, Of New York, Dies In Montreal Hospital

Harry Whitney, of New York, noted explorer and big game hunter, died in hospital at Montreal recently. He was born in 1873.

In 1909 and 1910 he was the centre of a controversy about discovery of the north pole. Mr. Whitney had gone north with Admiral Peary, and in 1909 both Admiral Peary and Dr. Frederick A. Cook returned from the Arctic and both claimed discovery of the north pole.

Doubt was cast on Dr. Cook's claims, and Mr. Whitney entered the controversy. He said he had gone hunting while with the Peary expedition and met Dr. Cook, who left instruments, clothing and other effects with him which Whitney cached.

He said Peary refused to take them aboard his vessel, the Roosevelt.

When the controversy broke it was intimated Mr. Whitney had destroyed Cook's records or had purposely left them behind. Mr. Whitney made only one statement, that Dr. Cook had told him of reaching the north pole and had sworn him to secrecy.

Mr. Whitney returned to the Arctic in three successive summers and continued to be a member of parties which went to the Arctic with Bartlett until 1930.

Reproduction Of Old Shop

Merchandise Of Century Ago Shown In New York

An American company 100 years ago made a pair of silk stockings for Queen Victoria. They are on exhibition in a Fifth Avenue, New York shop, with proceeds going to the Fresh Air Fund. The shop is a reproduction of a store opened in 1827, and is furnished with counters, desks, a safe and a stove, some of which were used in the last century. Merchandise of 100 years ago is displayed.

Among the attractions on exhibition are the embroidered silk wedding hose worn by a bride in 1847, and a pearl and gold leaf handbag made of fabric from a priest's robe in the 16th century.

May Live In Palestine

Haili Sclasse Is Considering Palace On Mount Of Olives

A palace on the Mount of Olives built by an emperor now in exile may become the permanent home of another fugitive sovereign.

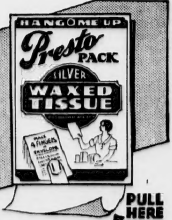

Haili Sclasse, who fled before the Italian armies, may make his residence in the Kaiserhof palace built by Kaiser Wilhelm II. for his wife, the Empress Augusta Victoria, after she fled to Jerusalem at the end of the last century, it was reported. At that time Palestine was part of the Turkish Empire.

The Negus recently visited the palace, which is now a monastery.

Unusual Companions

A Canadian honker goose and a lamb, inseparable companions on a Modoc county farm near Berkeley, California, understood each other perfectly. When the goose is lonely and wants the lamb for company, it honks; when the lamb wants company it bleats. Each always responds.

CATS AND DOGS IN THE GARDEN

Many civic communities have assured themselves comparative quiet during the night through the adoption of regulations prohibiting noises, such as the unwarranted roar of automobiles and motorcycles and the tooting of horns. However, no city, town or village, or settlement has as yet been able to guarantee the absence of demoniacal cat fights in the middle of the night. The sudden shock to nervous people and the want of sleep do not include all the damage done because these satanic brawls generally take place in the pet plot of a much prized garden. To the cat the "make Canada more beautiful" slogan does not mean a thing, and many times the ruin caused to lovely flowers and flower beds is really distressing to the person who has expended much care on the garden.

Apart from the high intelligence of the cat in locating the feline prize where it will do the most damage, the male cat at any time, day or night, is an unwelcome visitor to the garden. The dog, too, is also a transgressor. He is the friend of man, and it is hard for a stranger to feel sudden anger against the artless dog who so wholeheartedly enjoys clearing his hind legs midst flying tufts of favorite lawn and seed-speckled mould. To the owner of the garden, it is different. Strange dogs are a nuisance, and the path of the inquisitive dog, it must be remembered, is paved with opportunities for critical research.

The cat and dogs need not have their own way all the time. Their incursions where they are not wanted can be curtailed if not entirely stopped. Nicotine sulphate, the widely used insecticide, provides an effective means of keeping them at bay. The odor of nicotine is repulsive to dogs and cats, and as their sense of smell is much keener than that of human beings, it is possible to use the nicotine sulphate so diluted that flowers, shrubs, buildings, porches, walls and paths are not damaged. The insecticide may be used in a weak solution of table-spoon to five gallons of water. The spray evaporates in time and rain will wash it away. Therefore it should be renewed every two weeks in fair weather, and repeated after every heavy rain. In weak solution it will not damage flowers.

Town & District

Mayor Ostrander has declared next Tuesday June 23rd—the King's birthday—a holiday for Gleichen. This sets to rest any doubts as to whether this day would be observed as a holiday here.

Wm. Hill spent a short time in town Monday renewing acquaintances. Mr. Hill whose home is in California arrived in Alberta about two weeks ago to visit members of his family.

A lot of the trees that were planted last month look as if they would survive the planting process. Some of the local tree experts state that the season was too far advanced at the time the trees were planted.

Ted Gamon who for a time acted as teller in the Royal Bank here and was transferred to Sasano when the bank closed at this point has been transferred to Grand Prairie, according to the Sasano Mail.

Sunday the most interesting baseball game played here so far this year took place when Rockyford met the local club. The final score was 4-3 for Gleichen. Gleichen went to bat in the last of the 9th with the score tied; Bob Brown got to first and finally managed to work his way around to third. Bert James on his third strike connected bringing Bob in and the game was over. Rockyford made their three runs in the third. Gleichen made one in the 5th; 2 in the 7th and the final in the 9th. A much better crowd was on deck than at the game played on the previous Sunday.

The W. A. of the United Church held their June meeting at the home of Mrs. C. R. McIntyre. Mrs. H. Birch occupied the chair. Some discussion took place regarding the holding of a cooking school. The secretary, Mrs. James, was instructed to write Dixon & Riley Limited in this connection for more details. It was decided to sponsor a recital of the local pupils of Miss Bell of Haysan. The date was set for tomorrow night—June 18 and will be held in the United Church commencing at 8:15. Several local artists will contribute to the program, which will be arranged by Mrs. Birch, following the recital. The hostess was assisted in serving lunch by Mrs. W. A. Schmidt and Mrs. H. James. This was the last meeting of the season and the activities of the W. A. will be resumed early in September.

A recital by the pupils of Miss Bell will take place on Thursday, June 18, at 8:15 p.m. The pupils will be assisted by local artists. The W. A. of the United Church is sponsoring the recital.

The Canadian Legion are sponsoring an excursion to Vancouver on Sunday, July 26th.

People who write things which they would like to see printed in a newspaper, should bear in mind that what they write as their personal opinion should be factored by them and when they write stuff that is not fit for them to attach their names to it should never be printed. Remember the rule of all decent newspapers and you will never have occasion to put on the shoe. This is the rule which we give in all kindness. Never ask a newspaper to do anything you are ashamed to do yourself.
